Extending the Reach of Information

Esker Partners with Oracle to Deliver Added Value through Intelligent Document Automation

New alliance offers immediate additional value through Esker DeliveryWare integration

Sydney, NSW, Australia, 28 June 2005 — Esker Software, a leading provider of intelligently automated document delivery solutions, today announced it has joined the Oracle® PartnerNetwork, offering complete business document delivery capabilities to reduce costs, streamline business processes, simplify the IT infrastructure and increase productivity by automating the flow of information processed through Oracle E-Business Suite applications.

The objective of the partnership is to help Oracle customers achieve the rapid efficiency gains available with Esker DeliveryWare, combining seamless integration, leading-edge data recognition and formatting technology to compose and deliver professional business documents quickly and accurately. The Esker patented technology automates every phase of information delivery in a comprehensive platform designed to be easy to implement and maintain.

Documents processed through Oracle Applications from any department in an organisation can be automated quickly with Esker DeliveryWare. Typically, these include: invoices, purchase orders, statements, order confirmations, bills of lading, financial reports and similar documents. According to Esker, integrating Esker DeliveryWare with Oracle E-Business Suite to deliver these types of common documents can save organisations thousands of dollars on their business communication costs every month.

“Esker DeliveryWare is ideally suited to complement the Oracle process,” says Jean-Michel Bérard, Worldwide Chief Executive Officer at Esker. “Following the implementation Oracle customers will benefit from an immediate impact including improved cash flow, increased employee productivity, accelerated document flow and the elimination of process bottlenecks.”

Enhancing Oracle E-Business Suite as a way to put all of an organisation's business information in one place, Esker DeliveryWare provides a single solution for delivery of information — directly into and out of Oracle Applications — to further automate, streamline and simplify business processes for even greater efficiencies and deeper cost reductions. Specific features and benefits include:

- ◆ Seamless integration with Oracle products
- ◆ End-to-end automation of existing business processes without changing source code
- ◆ Automated delivery of mission-critical documents directly from Oracle applications
- ◆ Inbound image recognition and workflow capabilities to reduce data entry
- ◆ PDF file conversion, report generation and wireless document delivery
- ◆ Delivery tracking notification and status for improved business communication control
- ◆ Lower costs associated with delivering documents to customers and suppliers
- ◆ Increased communication flexibility through Esker On Demand "Software as a Service" hosted fax and postal mail options
